Households have until September 17, 2020, to complete the form requesting replacement of food loss.

activated when the Governor issues a disaster proclamation turning on IAGP for the affected counties. The federal program does not have an income restriction. Please note - if a presidential disaster declaration for Individual Assistance is issued for a county for the same event, the state program is automatically canceled for that county, as the federal program then goes into effect. That is why the Iowa Department of Public Health has created YourLifeIowa.org so Iowans can chat live, text, or call and get reliable information and treatment options, and find nearby help. Due to a storm system that swept across Iowa causing significant damage and power outages, you may have trouble connecting your call with Your Life Iowa (855-581-8111) or 1-800-BETS OFF. The online chat and text options are still available, and may be more reliable until all services can be restored. (Text to 1-855-895-8398 and click here to chat).

If there is an immediate crisis, please contact the National Suicide Prevention Lifeline at 1-800-273-TALK (8255), or click here to access the National Suicide Prevention Lifeline chat. The National Lifeline will make sure you are able to get in contact with someone who can help.

Iowa Insurance Division

The Iowa Insurance Division is available to field insurance complaints from consumers - <https://iid.iowa.gov/insurance-consumer-complaint> or 877-955-1212.

Storm-Related insurance tips:

- Many specifics asked about may be on a case-by-case basis and depend on the policy, deductible and other factors so they are tough for us to give bright line answers that will be useful to all. Wind is generally covered under homeowners insurance policies so it is different than flood coverage.
- Iowans should consult their policy to see what is or is not covered and contact their insurance agent to assist them in this process. The insurer and insurance agent can help guide the consumer about how different policies (homeowners, health, umbrella, auto, etc.) may work together to help get Iowans back on their feet following the derecho.
- It's important for individuals to understand what their deductible amounts are (the amount they will pay before insurance pays) as that may influence whether they file an insurance claim or not depending on the amount of damage they have encountered.
- It can be very helpful in the claim process if there are pictures or video of the damage or during cleanup to accurately assess the damage.
- When working with contractors use local if possible and be sure to get estimates on paper and multiple estimates if possible. You want the contractor to be reputable. The AG's office put this out that may be helpful - <https://www.iowaattorneygeneral.gov/newsroom/tree-storm-chaser-scams-derecho>.
- Iowans that run into issues with their insurer are encouraged to contact the Iowa Insurance Division to file a complaint. From there we can assist with questions or concerns on their individual situation.
- Times like these are also a time to remind folks to do a home inventory in case of a disaster. It can be as simple as walking through your house with your cell phone video/camera or folks can utilize an app from the National Association of Insurance Commissioners (https://www.insureuonline.org/insureu_type_home.htm).

Department of Human Rights

- The Iowa Department of Human Rights (DHR) partners with a network of local community action agencies across the state. Many community action agencies offer assistance such as food banks, food delivery initiatives, clothing, diapers, and addressing other emergency/disaster needs. There is a network of 17 community action agencies that serves all of Iowa's 99 counties. To find a community action agency near you, visit the Iowa Department of Human Rights' website: <https://humanrights.iowa.gov/dcaa/iowas-community-action-agencies>
- Hawkeye Community Action Agency <https://www.hacap.org/> (Linn County area)
- DHR is also assessing and assisting with the needs of the refugee and immigrant communities.
- Multi-lingual Hotline available statewide for Iowans looking for resources (this is the 211 Language Help Line), call 1-877-558-2609.

- Linn Area Partners Active in Disaster <https://www.linndisasterinfo.com/storm>

Economic Development / Finance Authority

- IFA has mobilized the disaster intervention team that supports IowaHousingSearch.org. This website currently has 56,000 rental units listed, statewide. The team will provide extensive outreach to landlords to ensure the portal provides accurate and safe housing options accessible to disaster victims in the 27 state declared disaster counties. Rental properties will be flagged as damaged, under repair or available and if available, landlords will be asked to indicate if they are accepting short-term leases and FEMA and other rent subsidies from disaster victims. A report with updated units in each category will be provided weekly. The IowaHousingSearch.org rental unit inventory is supported by a nonprofit, bilingual call center. Phone relay services are available for deaf or hard-of-hearing users and non-English speakers can also use the IowaHousingSearch.org website in Spanish or quickly generate content translations in up to 50 languages. Additionally, the IowaHousingSearch.org website's functionality meets 508 and AAA compliance guidelines, for those using assistive technology devices.
- Volunteer Iowa is working to deploy additional teams of AmeriCorps members in Cedar Rapids and to extend the service of summer AmeriCorps members who had been working in east/central Iowa's United Way Volunteer Center.
- IFA/IEDA has connected Iowa Legal Aid with tenants in Cedar Rapids to let them know their legal rights amid reports that some landlords are giving tenants 48 hours to leave their apartments regardless of whether they have arrangements for shelter.
- Volunteer Iowa's executive committee authorized the use of funding for additional refugee navigators in Cedar Rapids to help refugee communities with communication, identification of housing and other needs.

For example, delivering on a different day than their normal delivery day to accommodate power outages or cleanup efforts. ABD is also able to work with businesses that may need to temporarily store their alcoholic beverage inventory in a location off of their licensed premises.

Office of the Chief Information Officer

OCIO had some remote network outages related to the storm. These network resources come back online as commercial power is restored.

Department of Natural Resources

The DNR has a disaster webpage that is always available during and after any natural disaster, which includes many resources, links and guidance on clean-up, among other things. The website can be found here.

Department on Aging

- Most Nutrition Programs are back up and operating.
- LifeLong Links staff continues to make additional courtesy calls via cell and email to check in on individuals to see how they're doing.
- Area Agencies on Aging (AAAs) are focusing on smaller communities as they seem to be a little more off the radar-they are considering "tours" to drop off information to these more remote areas, and to see about clean up, again, as these areas seem to be more unattended too.
- Coordination continues with community partners especially in the Cedar Rapids area to check more on senior housing complexes where nonperishable food was dropped off and individuals were checked for immediate needs and referred to resources.
- Similar efforts continue for those individuals at highest risk living in their own homes to determine if immediate needs are being met. Safety checks are requested through law enforcement as needed and volunteers are mobilized and checking on those in high risk or living in poverty.
- Cedar Rapids staff is providing information on scams and other predatory practices, working with disaster resource centers to get information out to our consumers.
- The Iowa Department of Aging is working with AAA's to determine the need for an Administration for Community Living (ACL) grant that would fill more of a longer term need.
